

Notice of a Meeting for All to Attend

Hosted by CUPE 4207

The Brock administration has recently announced plans to cut the operating budget. Any cuts will come at the expense of teaching and learning. Courses will be cut and class sizes will increase. There has even been open discussion about eliminating the seminar system.

Cuts will hurt everyone at the university. We believe that the cuts are not necessary and the administration has not yet demonstrated that cuts are inevitable.

Help stop the cuts!

There will be an open meeting to discuss the budget situation, and how we can mobilize to protect the quality of teaching and learning at Brock.

Thursday February 5 at 2:00 p.m. in Welch Hall 207.

Please forward this message as widely as possible.
